

The Pragmatic Archery Timer (PAT) Version 1.1

Installation

Unzip the downloaded and use Windows Explore to navigate to the folder they were placed in.

You should find 2 files:

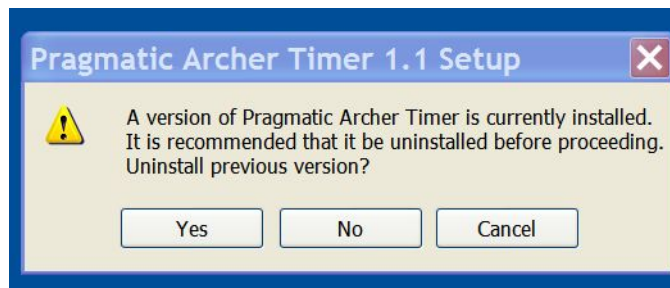

ReadMeFirst.pdf	(The file you are reading now)
PragTimerInstaller_V11.exe	(The installer)

Execute PragTimerInstaller_V11.exe – if you are installing on Windows Vista, you may have to run this program as Administrator

If you do NOT have a previous version installed, please skip to page 4.

Anyone installing Version 1.1 will see the following screens IF you have a previous installed.

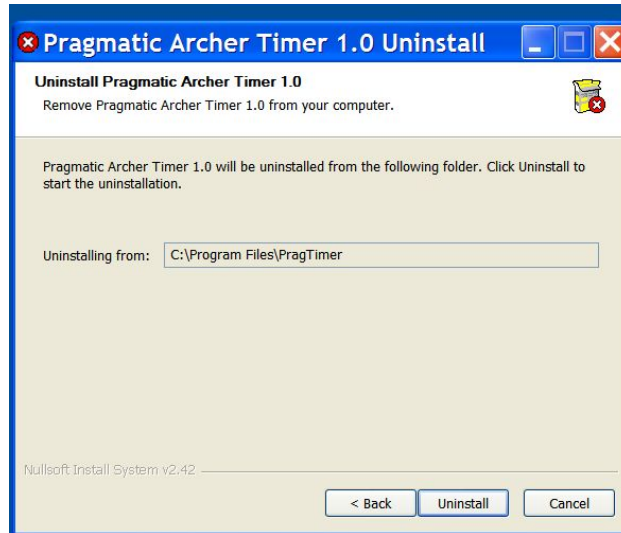

The following screen is simply a reminder that you have a previous version installed and is prompting you to uninstall it. Click the Yes button.

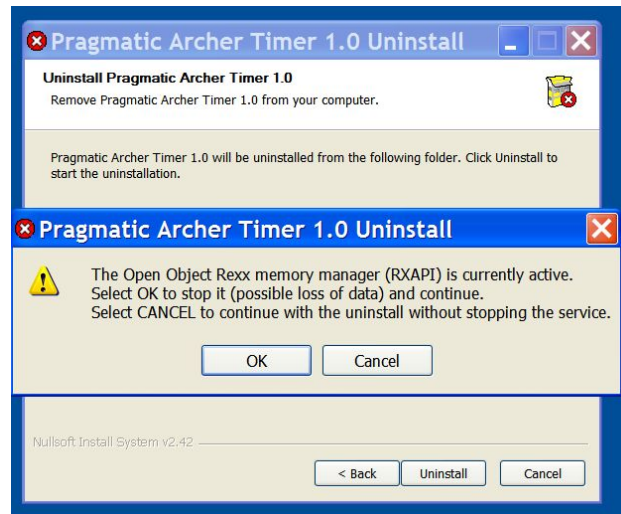

This is the beginning of the uninstall routine. Click the Next button to continue.

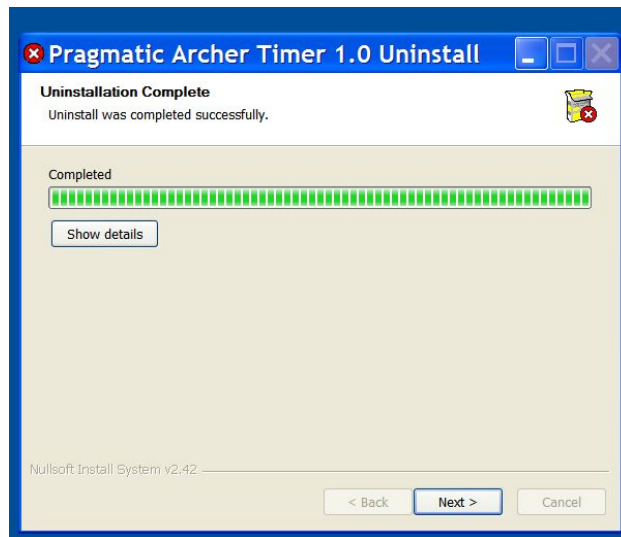

This is an indicator of where the uninstall will take place. Click the Uninstall button to continue.

The RxAPI (ooRexx Application Program Interface) is running as a service on your system. This is just an indication that the RxAPI has to be stopped before the uninstall can continue. Please click the OK button

The system will now proceed with the uninstall. This may take a couple of minutes – a completed bar will indicate its progress. Once this has complete, please click the Next button.

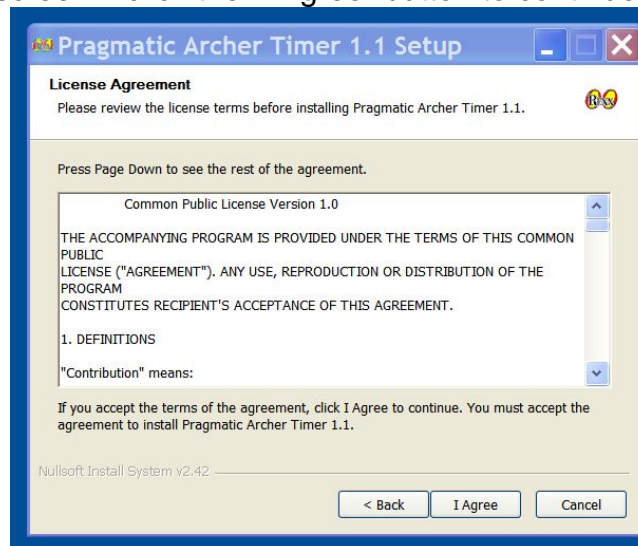

And finally, this is the indicator that the uninstall has completed, please click the Finish button to continue with the Version 1.1 installation.

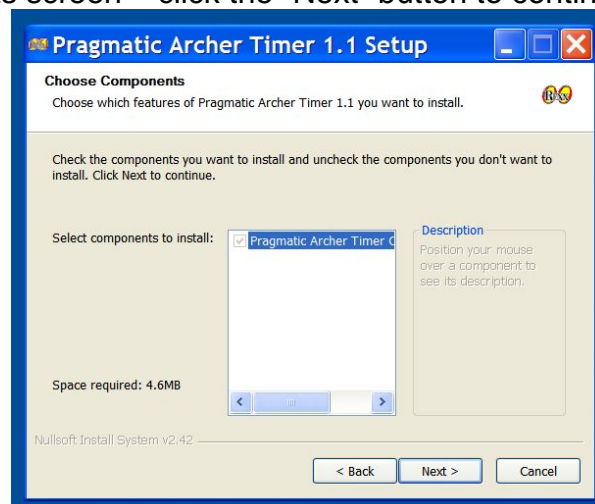

The Welcome screen – click the “Next” button to continue the installation

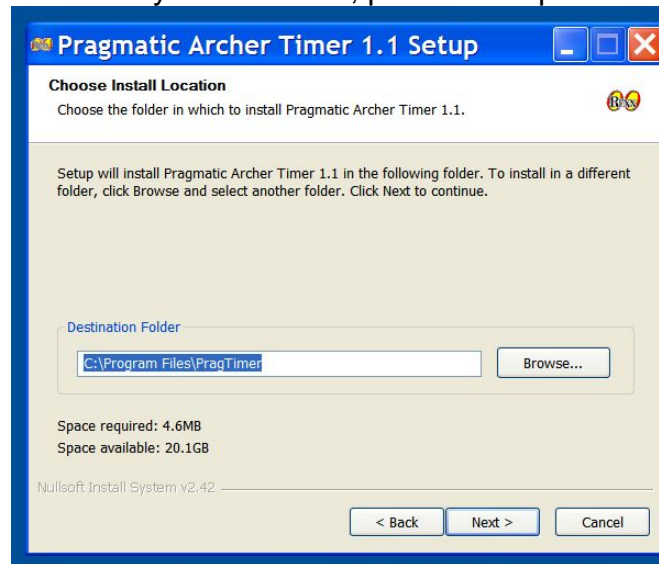

The License screen – click the “I Agree” button to continue the installation

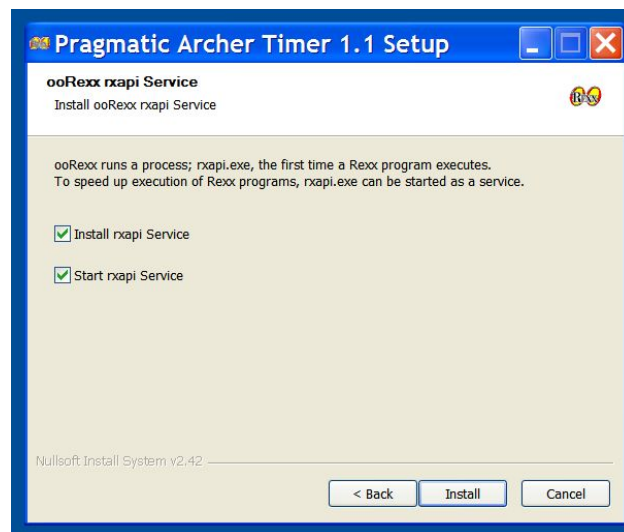

The Components screen – click the “Next” button to continue the installation

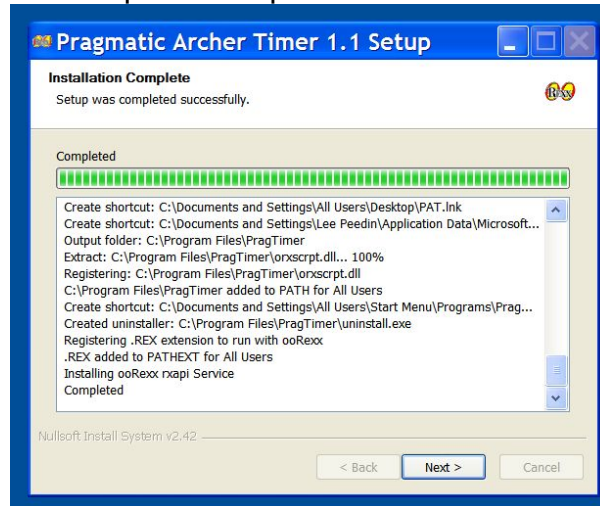

The Install Location screen – click the “Next” button to continue the installation
Unless you have a very valid reason, please accept this default location

The RxAPI screen – click the “Install” button to continue the installation
Again, please accept these defaults, by installing and starting the RxAPI service, PAT will execute much faster.

The Installation Complete screen – click the “Next” button to continue the installation
If there were no problems during the installation, everything should show
Complete/Completed on this screen

The Completing screen – click the “Finish” button to complete the installation

The installer has added a section to Start/All Programs named “Pragmatic Archery Timer”. It has also added a shortcut link to your desktop and your quick launch bar.
